

telc – professional language tests and certificates

“telc makes an important contribution towards removing language barriers.”

Rita Süßmuth, President of the DVV, German Adult Education Association

telc helps you get ahead

telc has been developing language tests on a scientific basis for the last 40 years – tests that reflect the real communicative needs of everyday life. telc offers almost 50 different tests in nine major European languages at five different proficiency levels in Europe.

All telc examinations are in line with the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEF) published by the Council of Europe. Ranging from levels A1 to C1, they test your foreign language skills with state-of-the-art assessment methods based on objective and fair assessment criteria.

Why obtain a telc certificate?

Good language skills broaden your horizon. They enable you to communicate across borders and help you feel at home everywhere in the world. Your language skills not only boost your self-confidence when you are travelling, they also open doors in the business world.

A telc certificate is a reliable proof of your language proficiency. It improves your career prospects, offers access to university studies and it is accredited by the German state for naturalisation in Germany.

Last but not least, the prospect of having a proficiency certificate for your language skills is an incentive to keep learning new languages.
